

Sensation & Perception

If you are interested in sensation and perception and how they apply to psychology, the following template is a general outline of what should be taken.

Group I

- 372 - Intro to Physiological Psychology
- 384 - Psychology of Perception
- 401 (M) - Historical Development of Psychology
- 473 (M) - Advanced Physiological Psychology
- 490 - Cognition and Memory

Group II

(any)

Other Psychology Electives

- 306 - Industrial/Organizational Psychology
- 307 - Human Factors
- 498/499 - Research Participation/Special Problems

Courses in Other Departments

- Cpt S 150 - Program Design and Development
- Cpt S 153 - Basic Programming
- Cpt S 250 - Data Structure
- Cpt S 251 - C Programming Language
- EE 442 - Robotics
- EE 489 - Introduction to Control Systems
- FA 101 - Introduction to Art
- FA 110 - Drawing
- Phys 443 - Optics