

February 8, 2008
10:00—11:00 am PT

Location: Washington
State University,
Pullman
Food Science and Human Nutrition
T-101 (above Ferdinand's)

WSU Extension presents:

“Planning For Sustainable Communities”

Log on to: <http://caheinfo.wsu.edu/video/stream.html>

In-studio guests will include:

William Budd, PhD
Bob Scarfo, PhD
Heidi Sowell, M.S.
Kara Whitman, M.S.

The program will also include videotaped
interviews with officials
from the cities of Moscow,
Idaho and Pullman,
Washington, as well as other WSU faculty.

Program Description: This program will take a practical approach to addressing the many issues surrounding community sustainability and explore methods communities can use to plan for sustainability. The program has three objectives: 1) educating cities, counties, and other interested parties about sustainability and the issues surrounding community sustainability; 2) establishing the importance of planning for sustainability at the local scale; and 3) promoting Sustainability Assessment as a tool that cities and counties can utilize to achieve greater sustainability and accountability.